A modern, minimalist interior space, likely a lobby or reception area. The floor is made of large, polished, grey marble tiles. The walls are primarily light-colored with vertical panels and a large, textured marble wall. A reception desk is positioned in the center-right, with the words "THE CORNER" displayed on the marble wall behind it. A modern chandelier with three white spheres hangs above the desk. To the left, there are two brown armchairs and a small table with a vase. A glass door is visible in the background. The lighting is warm and ambient, with recessed ceiling lights and a large potted plant on the right side.
